Rarebooks.info in France and Stanford University in Palo Alto, California, are pleased to announce the recent acquisition of the online electronic site www.rarebooks.info by Stanford Libraries.

During a transition period of approximately one year, the staff at Rarebooks.info will continue to oversee the site from France and facilitate the transfer to Stanford. You should not see changes in service during the transition.

Michael Keller, Stanford's University Librarian is also enthusiastic about the connection. "Rarebooks.info is a remarkable resource and we are very pleased to have a role in ensuring its future."

"We are very proud to have entered into partnership with this prestigious institution in the US which will insure the continuity of service that all our clients deserve," say Sandra Hindman and Michel Demont, heads of Rarebooks.info.

Subscribers to Rarebooks.info gain instant access to full digital facsimiles of electronic bibliographies with search capabilities across more than one hundred carefully selected bibliographies.
